

Christine Smyth

Hello, my name is Christine Smyth! I am 21 years old, and was born and raised in Cleveland, Ohio. I attend Baldwin Wallace University and am pursuing an Arts Management & Entrepreneurship B.A. with a dance minor. My mom enrolled me in Irish dance classes 15 years ago as a way to keep my deceased father's proud Irish roots alive in my life. My love of dance flourished as I worked hard to attain my competitive achievements at the world championships. However, my pure joy in dance shines best through show performances. My future ambitions are to tour with a professional dance show, open my own Irish dance school in Cleveland in honor of my dad's name, and offer free special needs classes so that all children may be able to experience the joy of Irish dancing. I am so excited and thankful to be here. Éire go brách!
