

Shannon Enoch

Hello! My name is Shannon Enoch, I am 23 years old and from Garrettsville, OH— the birthplace of Life Savers candy! Recently I have moved to Wadsworth, OH and work as an Accident Liaison for Cleveland Clinic. This past year I graduated from Hiram College with a degree in Communication and Writing, and have begun my next journey towards entering into the field of Public Health as I study to become a paralegal. In my spare time I enjoy getting involved with my local community by volunteering at the Wadsworth YMCA, listening to National Public Radio podcasts, learning new crochet stitches, and writing Spoken Word poetry. My great-grandmother Margaret O’Hara traveled to the United States from Foxford, Co. Mayo; from dancing in the kitchen to Gaelic folk tunes to telling stories of Cu Chulainn and the Fianna, I am blessed to carry on my great-grandmother's legacy and heritage.
