

Cailin Klein

Hello, my name is Cailin Klein and I currently attend Ohio University where I am eagerly pursuing a degree in Business and Marketing. My student experiences thus far have been wonderful as I was inducted into the Schey Sales Program, accepted into the Women in Leadership Organization, and I am also actively involved in the DSP Business Fraternity. Furthermore, I am passionate about education, health, and volunteerism. I am the product of wonderful people. My grandparents were both born and raised in County Mayo Ireland and my parents are educators. I was raised to value education and taught early on that it would give me the opportunity to do something meaningful with my life. Overall, my goals follow the path that will lead me to success. I am excited to continue my learning, meet new people, and build my skill-set where I can then make a great impact on others.
